

NEW QUARTERS FOR MARKET IF BILL IS SIGNED

Approval of Governor Will Mean Big Advance in Usefulness, Says Longley

A bigger and better Territorial Marketing Division, in more ample quarters and more thoroughly equipped for work, will be one of the results worked by house bill 309, which passed third reading in the senate yesterday, if that measure is signed by the governor.

The bill provides for the establishment of a revolving fund of $7500 for the maintenance of the market. According to Superintendent A. T. Longley the division soon is to have new quarters in Queen street; that is, if the present plans concerning the future of the market materialize. The work of the market is growing daily, he says, and is being carried out without a hitch.

Mr. Longley has two big projects in view for the coming two years. One is to ship pineapples as far east as Chicago and New York, and the second is to encourage the growing of the rosehip, a fruit which is used extensively in the making of jams and jellies and a non-alcoholic drink.

"If the small farmers of the territory will turn their efforts to growing the rosehip," says Longley, "it will mean that between $50,000 and $100,000 worth of the fruit can be sold to a big mainland concern in 1916 alone."

HOUSE ACCEPTS AMENDMENTS TO LOAN FUND BILL

Improvements in the Honolulu water and sewer works departments aggregating $105,000 in cost will be started as soon as Governor Pinkham approves House Bill 289, commonly known as the "loan fund" bill. The senate's amendments to the bill were concurred in by the house late yesterday, and the measure probably will reach the chief executive for signature late today.

In addition to the loan of $105,000 to the city water and sewer works, the bill appropriates an advancement of $100,000 for the improvement of the Honolulu harbor piers, $40,000 for the insane asylum, $10,000 for a home for infirmities and $75,000 for Oahu prison.

Governor Pinkham made a personal investigation at Nuuanu dam and reservoirs last week, and it is believed that he was convinced of the need of the $105,000 loan to the city water and sewer works. Preliminary plans indicate that catch-ditches on the hill sides, and a new sewer system in Puunui will be constructed if the measure is approved by the governor.

Time magnifies our good deeds and diminishes most of our naughty ones. There are at least six plants in the course of construction for the manufacture of dyestuffs in this country, according to information received at the Department of Commerce.

An eight-hour day in place of nine hours for its women employees will be put into effect by the Western Union Telegraph Co., in its larger offices throughout the country.

LEGISLATIVE NOTES

House bill 297, relating to leprosy as a reason for divorce, yesterday passed third reading in the senate.

The senate yesterday passed on third reading house bill 325, relating to the expenses of the circuit court.

A vague resolution adopted by the house yesterday calls upon the attorney general to investigate the acts of the district magistrate at Lihue, Kauai.

House joint resolution 4, relating to the appointment by the governor of a tax commission of five persons, yesterday passed third reading in the senate.

As predicted earlier in the day, the house judiciary committee yesterday reported against the Williamson bill to create a court of domestic relations in Honolulu.

House bill 343, which provides for the construction of a $2000 irrigation ditch in the Anahola homestead district, Kauai, yesterday passed third reading in the senate.

The senate yesterday passed on third reading house bill 309, relating to a revolving fund of $7500 for the maintenance of the territorial marketing division.

There will be discussion in the senate today on house bill 323, relating to the manufacture and furnishing of electric light in the Makawao district, Maui.

Senator Iaukea's bill to make it mandatory for district magistrates to act as prosecutors of claims of less than $25 for poor plaintiffs is scheduled to come up for third reading in the lower body today.

The annual meeting of the Mid-Pacific Carnival Association will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Honolulu chamber of commerce rooms. Directors will be elected for the coming year.

The senate yesterday tabled Senate Bill 71, introduced by Senator Rice, relating to a 2 per cent income tax proposition. This bill is survived by Senate Bill 153, which provides for a tax of 1 per cent on all corporations and on all incomes exceeding $4000.

The various county boards of supervisors will be authorized to compel drivers of automobiles to file bonds as a security against accidents, if a bill which is scheduled to come up in the house for third reading late today is passed.

The senate conference committee of the whole yesterday recommended that senate bill 22, relating to vacations for public employees, be passed with an amendment stating that the provisions in the bill be not applied to principals or teachers in public schools.

The senate's substitute for Fernandez's bill to allow motion picture theaters to run on Sunday after 6:30 a. m. passed the house yesterday and will be sent to the governor late today for signature. The substitute puts the matter up to the various county boards of supervisors.

Several resolutions and bills in the hands of the senate are causing members of the house, authors of the measure, to watch the closing days of the senate sessions closely. If any of these are amended late today or tomorrow, the house, for lack of time, may have to accept the senate's amendments without a conference.

Holstein's resolution to place a Hawaiian stone in the George Washington monument at the national capital was tabled in the house yesterday on recommendation of the education committee, which expressed its regrets that the resolution was introduced too late in the session for a thorough investigation.

As the official stenographer had not completed transcribing his notes of the hearings of the house committee on agriculture, action on the committee's report to table the Holstein resolution, petitioning congress to investigate contractual relations between small planters and sugar mill corporations, was deferred until today.

Willie Crawford's birthday is a lasting one. He is a member of the house of representatives and his natal day was yesterday, but the floral presents commenced coming to the representative chamber several days ago and have continued to today when a basket of pines and a vase of other flowers were placed on his desk in the legislative hall.

Strange are the ways of some members of the house of representatives, says one house leader. The separate bill providing for appointment of district magistrates by the governor instead of by election, passed the house yesterday by a vote of 19 to 9 on reconsideration. The measure lost by a vote of 16 against and 14 in favor last week and on unanimous consent was placed on the calendar for yesterday.

STORY OF OAHU RAILROAD SKETCHED FOR AD CLUB BY W. F. DILLINGHAM

Big Industrial Corporation Has Helped to Develop Island Prosperity

Oahu has a railroad, but it does not start anywhere and end up a tree as a certain scribe once credited it with doing. This is according to Walter F. Dillingham, treasurer of the Oahu Railway & Land Company, whose talk on the history of the company since its organization more than 25 years ago was a feature of the Ad Club luncheon recently.

Mr. Dillingham was one of the speakers at the Ad Club's "Oahu Day." The other speakers told of the various places about the island which are of especial interest to both tourist and kamaaina. Mr. Dillingham, in telling "how" to get there, summarized the history of the railroad. Flecked with humor here and there, it was a talk which at once impressed the listener with what is being done on Oahu to keep ahead in the big things in commercial and industrial life.

It was more than 25 years ago when the railroad was first started. Twenty years ago it boasted of 23 1/2 miles of road; that was when it was described as "starting nowhere." Today the company maintains 127 miles of road which, as Mr. Dillingham put it, "connects Honolulu with the outside world"—the Maunaloa wireless station at Kahuku.

The road spans in time the island's sugar development of from 6000 years ago to the present. The road is now owned by the Oahu Railway & Land Company, which has 125,000 tons. The same scribe who said the road started nowhere and ended up a tree, also said at that time that, as freight, it carried an occasional bunch of bananas or bag of rice. That may have been all right then, said Mr. Dillingham. However, today the company thinks nothing of freight—90,000 tons of pineapples a season.

Taxes on property from Ewa to Kahuku, inclusive, at the time the railroad was started, amounted to $28,553.88. In 1914 the taxes on the same property amounted to $210,000. This is one example of how the land along the line has increased in value in the past 20 years, Mr. Dillingham explained. The railroad paid $87,324.08 in taxes in 1914, which means that every two years the company pays back to the government the amount of the subsidy paid the railroad, which was $196,880.

The capital of the road 20 years ago was $2,000,000. Today it is $8,000,000. The gross earnings then were $120,000 and now they are $1,300,000. Today they are $1,300,000. The passenger earnings were $25,000 and now they are $200,000. Twenty years ago freight tonnage amounted to 25,000 and in 1914 this had increased to 630,000. Seventy-nine thousand passengers were carried yearly then, while in 1914 1,139,000 persons patronized the cars. Passengers carried one mile were 907,000 20 years ago. In 1914 they amounted to 15,425,000.

The passenger rates of the company show less than 2 cents a mile, said Mr. Dillingham. This is lower than the average rate on the mainland. Mr. Dillingham added that since the start of the pineapple industry the branch line built for the development of the pineapple business has practically doubled the company's total mileage of 20 years ago.

In explaining the reason why the company has equipped its lines with narrow gauge—three feet—track, he said that this was to work in cooperation with the plantations, all of which have built their own railways on the narrow gauge plan. This enables the company to ship a car of merchandise to one of the plantations and shunt it off on one of the plantation sidings, from where it then may be taken to that part of the plantation for which the contents of the car are intended. Railway men from the coast, who have gone over the company's lines and heard this explanation, are in favor of the plan, he added.

The company possesses 100 miles of private line, owns 2 locomotives, 44 passenger cars and 520 freight cars. It has 36,000 feet of wharfage space, can store 20,000 tons of sugar. All cars are made in its own shops.

In the past 20 years the company has neither killed nor seriously injured a passenger, said Mr. Dillingham. It has been obliged to defend but one suit for injury to employee or trespasser.

"So you see," he said, in conclusion, "the Oahu Railway does not 'begin nowhere and end up a tree.'"

'CHIROPRACTIC' BILL IS VETOED BY GOVERNOR

practise, hence whatever benefit may accrue to human beings by any special practice is now available to whomsoever elects.

The governor then quoted the present statutes on the practice of medicine.

"Ten different and epidemic diseases are required to be reported by physicians immediately either by telephone or by direct oral communication."

"Section 940 specifically enumerates 22 diseases, and declares them to be 'infectious and contagious.'"

"Section 1018 states: 'For the purposes of this chapter the practice of medicine shall be held to include the use of drugs and medicines, water, electricity, hypnosis, or any means or method, or any agent, either tangible or intangible, for the treatment of disease in the human subject; provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall be held to forbid any person from the practice of any method, or the application of any remedial agent or measure under the direction or with the approval of a licensed physician.'"

"The law seeks primarily to protect public health and public expenditure by preventing the introduction or spread of infectious or contagious diseases, particularly virulent and epidemic diseases as specified."

"In its enactments the law has laid its hand heavily on those professionally concerned in the diagnosis and treatment of disease and in the practice of surgery. It has compelled them to submit to a searching examination as to their qualifications and their ability to comply with the law, and their practice, after admission, is strictly controlled by law."

"Included among licensed practitioners are those who specialize, but they do not demand or request, nor does the law concede them legal recognition based on their ability to specialize, for these thoroughly equipped men are aware that, if a practitioner is not qualified to diagnose the range of general disease and the specifically legally listed diseases (section 940), such practitioner is dangerous to public health and public finance, as our past epidemic expenditures strikingly illustrate."

"The law goes to the necessary extreme in defense of public health in that, by its powers of quarantine the government may not only segregate but assume the responsibility of treatment of those diseases it has designated as infectious, contagious and epidemic."

Specialists Demand Immunities. "Other classes of specialists have arisen, and others will arise, who demand almost complete immunity from thorough comprehensive education and experience. They demand absolute exemption from official examination as to their knowledge and of experience with disease."

"They demand the utmost unrestricted freedom in spite of their acknowledged limitations and definite inexperience, to decide for themselves

'VACANCY' BILL IS DISAPPROVED BY GOVERNOR

Senate Bill 84, concerning the filling of vacancies occurring in county offices, was returned to the legislature today by Governor Pinkham, unsigned, and in explaining his veto the executive says: "I feel sure that there can be no political disappointments of any moment during the next two years. In the meantime the economic phase can have more study and reflection and future action be the result of further deliberate consideration."

His reason for vetoing the bill, in the main, he states, was because of the cost of the holding of special elections to fill vacancies in county offices, which is the object of the bill. Veteran politicians, however, have expressed themselves as being at a loss to understand what the governor meant when he referred to political disappointments.

Fire destroyed a six-story warehouse of the Columbia Storage Co. in Philadelphia, at a loss of $200,000. Six firemen were injured.

Two alarms of fire were turned in and intense excitement was caused by tests made of red fire in the Tower of Jewels at the Panama-Pacific Exposition.

What disease is and to impose on the government their personal interpretation and control of the functions of public health protection; in fact, they set themselves above every function of government as relates to disease.

"Since writing the above I have chanced to read the well-known publication which deals with chiropractic and mechanotherapy. These articles convey sufficient warning to cause a halt, for the present, to such legislation as this act seeks to place on our statute books."

"Governor of Hawaii."

SENATE GRINDS AWAY TO FINISH ITS LONG DOCKET

Numerous Important Matters Cleared Away and Upper House Works Late

This is one of the busiest days in the senate since the opening of the session 59 days ago and it will not be until late this afternoon that the solons will adjourn. All thoughts of clearing up the work of the session in the upper house today have been forgotten. At 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon the solons will be in session and probably will work up until 5:30 or 6 o'clock.

President Chillingworth said this afternoon that there is enough work on hand to keep the senate going another day. From 1 until 2:30 o'clock today an unusual amount of work was accomplished. The public lands committee, the Promotion Committee, the health committee and the Hawaii, Oahu and Kauai select committees have no more work on hand. The educational and judiciary committees expect to clean up their slates this afternoon.

Action on House Bill 23, relating to the election of the governor by the people, has been deferred until tomorrow. A resolution introduced by Senator Penhallow, requesting Congress to allow the College of Hawaii to carry on certain extension work, was passed and has gone to the house. Upon recommendation of the Promotion Committee, House Bill 149, relating to the opening of barber shops on Sunday, was tabled. Senate Resolution 2, relating to the curfew law, was tabled on recommendation of the judiciary committee.

A resolution introduced by Senator Castle, to the effect that certain furniture now stored in the basement of the Promotion Committee, be turned over to the Daughters of Hawaii for use in the Queen Emma home, was adopted.

Senator Metzger's motion to take from the table and reconsider House Bill 281, providing that foreign insurance companies in the territory secure policy holders against loss, failed to pass.

Action was taken on the following bills:

House Bill 71, relating to licenses for public shops, deferred for third reading.

House Bill 196, relating to the regulation of partnerships, passed third reading.

House Bill 317, relating to the setting aside of lands in the Puna district for a public park, passed third reading.

House Bill 323, relating to the manufacture and supply of light in the Makawao district, Maui, passed third reading.

Conference committee report on Senate Bill 137, relating to lease by the city and county of Honolulu of a certain portion of Kapiolani park, adopted.

Report of the educational committee recommending the tabling of House Bill 271, relating to the use of school houses in the territory, adopted.

There will be a meeting every night this week in the Christian church, beginning at 7:30 o'clock. This evening Mr. Crabtree of San Diego, Cal., will speak.

A meeting of the board of health was held yesterday afternoon at which time considerable routine work was cleared off. Resolutions in memory of the late Hon. M. P. Robinson were passed. Doctor Hobdy will continue his interesting lecture of last Tuesday and will discuss the digestive system and the relative values of various foods. Those who do not have tickets for the course may purchase single admissions. This series is proving to be a popular feature at the association.

As far as circuit court is concerned there were no new developments today in the "badger game" expose involving John T. Scully, George A. ("Bert") Bower and others. The plea of guilty entered yesterday by Paul H. Boggs doubtless means that Scully will never act as a witness for the prosecution against Boggs, McGrath and Bower, indicted for second-degree robbery, and in which matter Scully's case was nolle prossed. Sentence will be imposed on the defendants Saturday in Judge Ashford's court.

"SANDWICH ISLANDS" TO BE BANISHED FROM MAP

"Sandwich Islands" will no longer be the appellation of this territory on the maps and folders of the United States Steamship Company. Some weeks ago A. P. Taylor, assistant secretary of the Promotion Committee, wrote to the New York office of the company calling attention to the fact that the name "Sandwich Islands" was officially discarded more than 40 years ago. This morning's mail brought Mr. Taylor a reply from New York, saying that his request for a change in the map would be complied with in the next and succeeding editions, and that the London office of the company had also been instructed to make the change.

"Look, mamma," said little Edna, a man with a bald head and full beard entered the room. "There's a man whose hair has all grown down through his face."
